1. READ: THE VIKINGS — WHAT DO THEY DO AND MAKE?

Who were the Vikings? The Vikings were people from Scandinavia (today's Norway, Sweden, and Denmark). They lived more than 1,000 years ago, mainly between the late 700s and the 1000s. They were sailors, traders, farmers, craftspeople, and explorers.

Viking life was busy. In Viking communities, people do many different jobs. Farmers do farm work and look after animals. Craftspeople make tools, clothes, jewelry, and weapons. Sailors make long journeys across the sea in strong wooden ships. Today, historians do research to learn more about Viking life, and museums make exhibitions to share what they discover.

More than 1,000 years ago, Viking people did many kinds of work. They did farming, fishing, trading, and other daily tasks. They made ships that could travel across oceans and along rivers. They made tools, weapons, jewelry, and woolen clothes. Some Vikings made long journeys to trade, explore, or raid distant places. They also made agreements and traded goods with people in other regions.

Remember: DO → DID (an activity, task, or work) MAKE → MADE (create or produce something). After did / didn't in a question or negative sentence, use the base form: Did they make ships? / They didn't make cars.
